Fedex will be picking up the large package I left up front tomorrow. I wasn't able to withdraw the money from Neopost account as it kept giving me an error so Neopost let me know they'd email me with the refunded post amount once the machine is received.

We have a check for Carol that I'll bring down in a moment. I'm also in the midst of returning the old Neopost machine and need to get the remaining postage removed. Do you happen to know where its original box is in the mail room or did it get dumped?
